Elements of FEMA Application

- There are three critical elements to completing a Quality Sub Application:
  - 1. Scope of Work
  - 2. Work Schedule
  - 3. Detail Cost Estimate

Sub Grant Application Development

- Benefit Cost Analysis (BCA)
  - It is the method by which the future benefits of a proposed hazard mitigation project are determined and compared to its costs.
  - It is the “cost-effectiveness” of a project
  - The proposed project is considered to be cost effective when the Benefit Cost Ratio (BCR) is 1.0 or greater.
    - BCR = Project total benefits divided by its total costs

= Project Total Benefits

Project Total Costs

Q & A

- Questions :

- 1. HM Planning Sub Applications will be awarded.
- 2. Can you hire a Vendor to complete the Sub Application?
- 3. Is the Vendor cost to complete the sub application covered?
- 4. Can you complete in-house?
- 5. How soon can you start the sub application?
- 6. How does the Jurisdiction reimbursed for the completed activities?

**Having a non-expired FEMA-approved local mitigation plan is critical for any project sub application to be considered. As it is an eligibility requirement.
